New Scam: Mimick- 5 ing Phone Numbers

Shanghai Consulate News for Americans

Issue 55 August, 2012

2012 Election Cycle - - Register and Request Your Ballot

New absentee voting laws are in effect for the 2012 elections. You will no longer automatically receive ballots based on a previous absentee ballot request. All U.S. citizens outside the United States who want to vote by absentee ballot in the 2012 primary and general elections must complete a new Federal Post Card Application (FPCA) every year if they wish to vote from abroad.

States are now required to send out ballots 45 days before an election. No matter what state you vote in, you can now ask your local election officials to provide your blank ballots to you electronically (by email, internet download, or fax, depending on your state).

You can now also confirm your registration and ballot delivery online. Be sure to include your email address on the form to take advantage of the electronic ballot delivery option. This is the fastest and most reliable way to receive your ballot on time, and we strongly recommend every overseas voter take advantage of it.

Learn more at the Federal Voting Assistance Program's (FVAP) website www.FVAP.gov. FVAP's website is the official government website, and it has both an online wizard to help voters complete and address forms, and a wealth of information for voters about registration and ballot receipt deadlines for each state.

The Federal Write-in Absentee Ballot (FWAB) is a backup ballot. If 30 days before the election (or longer based on your geographic location) you think you will not receive your state ballot in time to vote and return it to the proper authorities, vote using the FWAB at www.FVAP.gov.

If you have any questions about registering to vote overseas, please contact Consulate Shanghai's American Citizens Services at 3217-4650, or at ShanghaiACS@state.gov.

Local News: Shanghai in Move to Allow Longer Stays Without a Visa

(From Shanghai Daily, July 26, 2012, By Zha Minjie)

A VISA-FREE policy allowing travelers to stay in Shanghai for 48 hours before leaving for their next foreign destination may be extended, the city's border police said yesterday.

Under consideration is a change in policy which would allow the time period to be 72 hours.

The visa-free policy is seen as part of the city's efforts to attract more travelers and visitors and enhance Shanghai's reputation as an air transport hub.

Lu Zhitao, deputy director of the Shanghai Exit and Entrance Frontier Inspection Station, said yesterday that the new policy would "greatly benefit passengers and airlines as well."

Lu said the policy had been approved by the State Council, China's Canibet, and they were working on the details of how it would be applied. No timetable for its introduction was announced yesterday.

The visa-free policy was first introduced in 2000 at the city's two airports, Hongqiao and Pudong.

Police said 2,923 people used the 48-hour visa-free period last year, an increase of 78.5 percent on 2010.

A 24-hour visa-free stay is available to all transferring international passengers passing through Shanghai while the 48-hour policy is available to 32 countries including the United Kingdom, the United States, Japan, Singapore, Germany, France, Hungary and Switzerland.

More foreign countries may be included in the new policy.

The visa-free policy is also expected to be extended to rail-ways and ports.

Shanghai's international airports saw a slower increase in passenger volume and cargo transport last year amid the global economic slowdown and weakened trade growth.

The changes in the visa-free policy are part of the city's bid to reverse that trend.

Last year, Pudong International Airport fell one place to 21st on the list of the world's busiest air hubs in terms of passenger volume.

In the first half of this year, more than 12.64 million international air travelers used the city's two airports, a 10.5 percent increase on the same period in the previous year.

There were 410,000 passengers transferring to other international flights at the Pudong airport last year, an 80 percent increase on the total for 2010.

Since March, passengers transferring to other international flights at Pudong within 24 hours have also been exempt from double border inspections. It's the first time the practice has been used at airports on the Chinese mainland.

Police officers at the airport said that the practice "speeds up the process and saves time."

Upcoming Social Security Administration Q&A Opportunity

The Social Security Administration (SSA) does not have an office in China mainland. American citizens residing here usually have to send their inquiries to the closest SSA office in Manila, Philippines. We are glad to announce that the Chief of the Asia Pacific Rim of the SSA International Operations in Manila will be available at the U.S. Consulate General in Shanghai at 10:00am to 12:00am on Monday, September 24 to answer questions by phone. During that time, you will have an opportunity to speak to him in person by calling the phone number: (86-21) 3217-4651.

This is a good opportunity for you to speak to a representative from the SSA without having to make an international phone call or to travel to somewhere that has an SSA office. Feel free to ask any questions, e.g. the Social Security Number (SSN) issuance, how to apply for the various federal benefits (spouse, child, widow, disability, etc.).

If you are unable to call in during the above time, you may always contact the following SSA office in Manila, which covers services for beneficiaries resident in China:

Forewarned Is Forearmed – SCAMS Endemic To Shanghai

凡事预则立——上海地区的流行骗局

The American Citizen Services (ACS) unit is regularly contacted by Americans victimized by scams that take advantage of their generosity or ignorance of local norms and culture. While petty theft remains the most prevalent type of crime Westerners encounter in China, the diversity and sophistication of scams is increasing. While the following list is not meant to be all-encompassing it does forewarn and forearm you against the most common scams encountered by Americans here:

美国公民服务处常接获美国人报称有人利 用其慷慨或对本地习俗文化缺乏了解而设 置骗局。尽管西方人在中国最常所遇犯罪

是各样有下人遇不你小扇复加为地漏和增列本的全备大力,美最局,是最后,是最后,是是一个人。

"Art Show / Art Student" scam —
"Hi, I'm an art major at a Chinese university. We are showing our work nearby and would love for you to have a look. Don't worry, entrance is free and there's no need to buy anything."
If you follow this "art student" you will be pressured to purchase expensive, low-grade art prints.

"艺术品展出/艺术系学生"骗局: "你好,我是一名艺术系的中国大学生。我们在附近展出作品,欢迎你前来参观。别担心,入场免费且不需要你购买任何东西。"如你跟着这位"艺术系学生"走,将被迫购买价格高昂的劣质艺术品。

"Tea Ceremony/English student" scam – "Hi, we are English students at a local university. Would you mind helping us practice our English? In exchange, we will treat you to a traditional Chinese tea ceremony." After ordering tea and snacks they will excuse themselves. Soon the bill will arrive and very large men will force you to pay an exorbitant amount of money before allowing you to leave. Real English students will not mind going to a place of your choosing to practice their English for an hour.

"茶道表演/英语系学生"骗局: "你好,我们是来自本地一所大学英语系的学生。你能帮助我们练习英语吗? 作为回报,我们请你观看传统的中式茶道表演。"点完茶和点心后他们会离去。稍顷账单即至,非常壮硕的男子会在允许你离开前逼迫你支付一大笔钱。真正的英语系学生不会介意去你所选择的地方练习一小时英语。

"Bar tabs" – Better to pay as you go. Starting a tab makes it possible for a bartender to hand you a bar bill of $500. If you decline to pay you could be threatened with physical violence until you pay (usually by credit card), before being escorted out.

"酒吧赊账":最好现点现付。如果赊账,最终可能会接到酒吧招待递来的500美金账单。如拒付,在被押送出门前,你可能身受暴力威胁直到你(通常是用信用卡)交钱。

"Injured Relative / Arrested Relative" scam - "Hi, I'm a friend of your grandchild here in China and she was just seriously injured (usually in a traffic accident) and/or arrested. In order for her to receive medical care in China you must pay all fees upfront. The American Consulate won't help. Please wire $2000 to my account so I can ensure your granddaughter receives the necessary medical treatment." Always best to try and contact your relative directly, or call ACS to help you find out the facts, if someone tells you that they are in trouble and need you to wire them money ASAP. In China medical facilities will usually contact the U.S. Consulate if an American citizen is admitted without anyone to assist. We will never refuse to assist American citizens in need.

"亲属受伤/被捕"骗局: "你好,我是你孙女在中国的朋友,她刚刚(通常是在车祸中)严重受伤了,或者,她刚刚被捕了。她在中国接受治疗需要你提前支付所有费用。美国领事馆不提供帮助。请汇2000美金到我账上,我会确保你孙女得到必要的治疗。"如有人告知你亲属有难需立即汇钱,始终尽量直接联系到你的亲人,或致电美国公民服务处寻求帮助了解实情。中国的医疗机构如果接收到无人协助的美国公民,通常会联络美国领事馆。我们绝不会拒绝帮助有需要的美国公民。

"Please Hold the Line for the Police" - You receive a phone call from someone claiming to be from your bank or the police station and you are told that someone assumed your identity and used your credit card to commit credit card fraud, which is now under investigation by the Public Security Bureau (PSB). You are informed that the PSB requires your bank account information to complete their investigation. After providing your personally identifiable information over the phone that included your savings account information, your account is liquidated. You later find out that the person who called you was not from your bank or the police. If you receive a call from the police asking for personal information you should ask them to wait, and contact your nearest police station to inquire into the situation in person.

"请别挂电话,等待转接至警署": 你接到声称来自银行或警署的电话,告知有人冒用你的信用卡涉嫌信用卡诈骗,现正接受公安局调查。你被告知公安局调查过程中需要你的银行账号信息。你在电话中提供了包括你储蓄账户内容的个人身份信息

后,你的账户即被提清。事后你发现致电给你的人并非来自你的银行或警署。如果接到要你提供个人信息的电话,你应要求对方等候,随即联络附近的警署当面了解情况。

NEW "Mimicking Phone Numbers" - You receive a call on your mobile phone from someone claiming to be the police from the "Economic Crimes Bureau" in Beijing. You are told your bank account is involved with money laundering and that you are now being investigated. You are told that you may verify the incoming call by checking online or in a phone book for the number of the "Economic Crimes Bureau". The caller is patient and tells you that he will hold the line while you check to verify the number. You check with different resources and confirm the phone number of the incoming call belongs to the police in Beijing. You then follow the caller's instructions and provide him with detailed information about your bank accounts. You transfer the money to the safe account as instructed by the caller. You later find the money that you transferred is gone. How this Scam Works: To attract clients, telecom operators enable clients to set the incoming number they want to be displayed on the phone of someone they call. Bottom line, you cannot always trust that a phone call is truly coming from the number appearing on your phone. If you are concerned about your bank accounts, it's best to contact your bank or the local authorities directly.

"伪造来电号码":你的手机接到声称来自北京"经济罪案调查科"的电话。你被告知你的银行账号涉及洗钱而正被调查中。你还被告知可以通过上网或查询电话簿来核实对方身份。来电者很耐心,说他可以在电话线上等你先核实。 你通过不同渠道确认了来电号码确属北京警方。于是你按来电者的要求,提供了你的银行账户信息,并按指示把钱转入安全账户。你随后发现转出的钱款都不见踪影。 这个骗局是怎么回事?——为了吸引顾客,电信公司允许客户对打到他人电话上的来电号码进行设置。关键要记住的是:来电显示的号码并不总是该来电的真实号码。 如果你对自己的银行账户有疑虑,最好直接与银行或当地机构取得联系。

"Business Deal" – You have been doing business with a Chinese company for some time and receive an email asking you to send the next wire transfer to a new account number. After wiring the money you are asked to resend the payment because it never arrived. After rewiring the payment you are again notified that the payment did not arrive and that you should try sending it to another account number. At which time you become extremely suspicious and discover the email address is slightly different from the company's real email and/or the person who has

"做生意": 你与一家中国公司业务合作已有时日,对方发来电子邮件要求你将下笔款项汇到一个新帐号。汇款之后,你被要求再次汇款,因为之前的汇款未被收到。再次汇款后,你又被告知款项没有汇到,必须再次汇至另一账号。你此时极度怀疑并发现对方的电子邮件地址与其公司真实的电子邮件地址有细微差别,并且(或者)联系人已于一个月前离职。

"IRS scam" – You received an email from the IRS claiming they cannot process your recent tax return because you did not include a photocopy of your state or federal ID. The IRS does NOT generally initiate fax or emails to taxpayers, nor does the IRS discuss tax account matters with taxpayers via email or fax. The IRS never requests security-related personal information, such as your SSN or PIN numbers.

"税务署骗局":你收到来自税务署的电子邮件声称由于你未附上带照片的州或联邦证件的复印件,他们无法处理你最新递交的退税单。税务署通常不会发送传真或电子邮件给纳税人,也从不在电子邮件或传真中与纳税人商议税务账号问题。此外,税务署从不要求提供涉及安全的个人信息,如社会保障号码或密码。

"Diversity Visa" – You receive an email congratulating you because you've won a Diversity Visa (DV) and although the DV participation was free, U.S. law and regulations require every DV winner to pay a visa processing fee of $819. The email goes on to state the fee must be paid using a Western Union money transfer and will be processed by the U.S. Embassy in the United Kingdom. UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES should money be sent to anyone to participate in the DV Lottery. The State Department's Kentucky Consular Center does not send email notifications to DV entrants informing the winning entries.

"抽签移民": 你收到电邮恭喜你获得抽签移民并被告知,尽管参与抽签移民免费,美国法律法规要求每个获得抽签移民资格的人支付一笔819美金的签证处理费。电子邮件继续介绍说该费用必须使用西联汇款并汇至美国驻英国大使馆。无论如何不要为了参加抽签移民而汇钱给某人。美国国务院肯塔基州领事事务中心(KCC)不会使用电子邮件通知抽签移民中奖信息。

"Real Estate" scam – You sign a contract for an apartment you want to rent and hand over the deposit and first few months rent to who you believe is the landlord. All seems legitimate until you return home one night to discover the real landlord in the apartment demanding to know who you are and why you have moved into his apartment.

Forewarned Is Forearmed – SCAMS Endemic To Shanghai

凡事预则立——上海地区的流行骗局

You find that the person you signed the contract with has skipped town with your money and the real estate agent has no recollection of you.

"房产"骗局:你签订租房合同并将头几个月的定金付给了以为是房东的那人。一切貌似合法,直到某天晚上你回家时真正的房东出现并质问你是谁且为何会住在他家。你发现与你签订合同的那人已携款不告而别,而真正的房产中介不认识你。

"Black Taxi" – "Where do you want to go?" "Taxi?" If you get in, make no mistake, you will be grossly over charged and potentially robbed in a secluded area by the driver's friends. The same goes for motorcycles charging for transportation.

"黑车": "你想去哪儿?""出租车?"如上车,毫无疑问会被乱开价甚至可能在隐蔽处遭司机的朋友抢劫。同样骗局亦现于摩托车等其它有偿交通工具上。

"Fake Police" – You are stopped on the road (usually near an area frequented by expats) and asked to show your passport to a person claiming to be a police officer. When you cannot show your passport, you are asked to pay an on-the-spot fine of RMB500. First, if they are real police they will have no problem with showing you their I.D. when asked. Moreover, real police officers will go with you to their station where you will be issued a receipt for the fine.

"假警察":有人在路上(通常在外国人常去地)拦住你并自称是警官,要求你出示护照。如你无法出示,即被要求当场支付500元人民币的罚款。首先,如果对方是真警察,则不会在被要求时拒绝向你出示他们的证件。此外,真的警官会带你至警署,你在那里支付罚款并会得到收据。

"Pickpockets" - Typically, a single man or a pair of women with babies strapped to their chests approach you from behind during your walk near a popular tourist area (Nanjing Rd). Unbeknownst to you, they unzip your bag and quickly steal everything that looks expensive. Remember to keep your bags in front of you and do not place valuables in your back pocket.

"小偷":常常发生在你走近热门旅游区时,单身男子或两个胸前绑有小孩的女子从后面接近你,趁你不注意拉开你的包拉链并迅速偷走看似值钱的东西。记住把包放置身前并别把贵重物放在背后的口袋里。

"Child Beggars and Flower Sellers"

- "Money, money!" or "Flowers, Flowers!" Money dropped into their cup will be taken by their adult handler (perhaps even their kidnapper) who is exploiting the child and your humanitarian nature. If you want to help, consider offering food instead.

"乞童与卖花者": "给钱,给钱!""买花,买花!"扔进他们帽子的钱会被利用这些儿童和你善心的成年操控者(或许也是绑架这些儿童的人)收走。如果你想帮忙,可以考虑提供食物。

"Buy a Car" scam – A Chinese based website states you can pay 30% of the total cost of the car now through Western Union and the balance upon delivery. In the end you never receive your car or see your money again.

"买车"骗局:一家中国网站声称你可通过 西联汇款支付全部购车款的30%并在车到后 付清余款。最终你不仅没拿到车还赔了钱。

"Black Money" – In order to prevent the theft of U.S. currency being shipped overseas, the U.S. government has a process to coat $100 bills with a special ink (usually black). I have intercepted one shipment but need your help purchasing a special solvent to "clean" the bills. I am happy to share the proceeds with you. Of course, the process is bogus, and you will lose whatever money you invest.

"黑钱":为预防运往海外的美国货币失窃,美国政府有给100美元纸币涂上一种特殊墨水(通常为黑色)的处理。我截获了一批这样的货物,但需要你帮忙购买一种"清洁"纸币的特殊溶剂。我愿与你分享收益。当然,这种处理子虚乌有,你的投资也将一去不返。

"Stolen Wallet" – "Hi, my wife and I (dressed nicely) are tourists and had our wallets stolen. Could you loan us RMB100? When we return home we will send it back to you." You will not receive any money back and have just been victimized by a con artist.

"被盗皮夹":"你好,我太太和我(衣冠楚楚)是被盗皮夹的游客。你能借我们100元人民币吗?回家后我们会把钱寄还给你。"你不会收到任何还款。

"Dropped Metro Card" scam – The taxi driver drops your transportation card as he attempts to hand it back to you in the backseat. The next time you go to use it you find the card has a zero balance. What happened? The taxi driver saw that you had a lot of money on your card and dropped it by his feet to quickly switch it for an empty one. Circumvent this scam by placing a sticker or other clear identifying marker on your card to confirm the card handed back to you is indeed your own.

"掉落公交卡"骗局:出租车司机把公交 卡递还给后座的你时将其掉落。下次使用 该卡时,你发现卡的余额为零。你的钱 呢?出租车司机看见你卡里有很多钱,于 是将其掉落在他脚下并迅速换成一张空 卡。可以给你的公交卡加上贴纸或别的清 晰可辨的标记以确认还给你的卡确实属你 所有,从而规避此类骗局。
